

At this picture I have a glass of wine before dinner together with the other people staying at the camp.

The mornings were wonderful! I took this picture by self-timer and I like it very much because you can see how much I'm enjoying my self. They served tea and coffee with scones and I took my blanket with me from the bed, had breakfast in the middle of the bush, and felt very happy. ~~~~~